Title and Abstract

Title	MENGEMBANGKAN MOTIVASI BELAJAR MELALUI LOCUS OF CONTROL dan SELF ESTEEM
Abstract	In this paper, the research aims to find the learning motivation of someone by developing self-award and self-control locus that known "Self esteem" and "Locus of control". It consists of two parts, namely self esteem and locus of control. Self esteem uses one's knowledge about himself and judges himself. It can be classified into very high, high, medium, low and very low. While the locus of control is how self control of someone to events happened. There are two forms of characteristics of individuals based on the tendency of the locus control. Both are internal and external forms. Someone who has an internal locus of control, the factor of ability and effort seems dominant. Therefore, if an individual with experience of failure of internal control locus, they will blame themselves for the lack of effort made. Similarly, the success, they will feel proud of the results of his efforts. Individuals who have characteristics with high self-esteem can be described that the individuals are active and able to express themselves well. They excel academically and succeed in social relations. They can take criticism well, believe in the perception and themselves, have belief in himself not only by his imagination. Because they have the ability, social skills, and the quality of high self-esteem, then they are not susceptible to the judgment of others regarding their nature and personality, either positive or negative. It is easy for them to adjust to the new environment. They have low levels of anxiety and insecurity. They have the power for balanced surviving.
